A Hint to Mothers of Growing Children

A Mild Laxative at Regular Intervals Will Prevent Constipation.

A vital point upon which all schools of medicine seem to agree is that normal regularity of the bowels is an essential to good health. The importance of this is impressed particularly on mothers of growing children.

A very valuable remedy that should be kept in every home for use as occasion arises is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of simple laxative herbs that has been prescribed by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., for more than twenty-five years, and which can now be obtained in any well stocked drug store for fifty cents a bottle.

In a recent letter to Dr. Caldwell, Mrs. H. C. Turner, 844 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., says, "I bought a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for my baby, Roland Lee Turner, and find it works just like you said it would. It is fine for the stomach and bowels."

ROLAND LEE TURNER.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

MARY ADAIR AND MARY NIXON.

A paper read before Fairforest Chapter, D. A. R. by Mrs. Alice Moore Arthur.

'Twas at a time in the history of the Revolution when the fortunes of the patriots were at a low ebb, that there arose in the South a small band of men who did much to further the cause of victory in that section. The Tories were confident the section was thoroughly subdued and subdued it would have been but for this band of valorous and fearless men. The extent of their victories cannot be measured merely by the battles they won; the Tories they killed and the territory they saved from spoilation. The effects of these victories in arms naturally led to a number of converts among these doubtful convictions. Yet in this part of that great game we must not forget to mention the heroic role played by the brave and loyal women; these who have given husbands, sons and brothers to the cause they loved so well and yet were not satisfied with this part. In a haphazard way I shall discuss two notable examples, among the many of this period. It was probably due in great measure to their efforts that the men were so united and so resolute as to go forward to a man to serve the cause of freedom. By no means uncouth, performing the labors of both household and field and perhaps coincident that among the number in Chester county so many should have borne the name of Mary—seven there were and among them I have selected the two Marys in whom I am naturally interested, both being cousins of my father—Mary Adair and Mary Nixon and the Adair name has been handed down through the succeeding generations of Moores.

Mary and William Adair lived on the south fork of Fishing creek. They had three sons, James, William and John, also an adopted son, Edward Lacy, who was the colonel of the Chester men at the Battle of King's Mountain till the close of the war. We are told that Hicks party stopped at Mr. Adair's on their way to Williamson and cruelly took the silver buckles from Mrs. Adair's shoes, the rings from her fingers, and had their chests from her room. They were her husband and were about to hang him when some of his sons being with the rebels, however, some of the Tories came to his rescue and declared the old man not responsible as their mother who had encouraged them to their rebellious course. The officers then took her aside and told her he had heard of these fine sons and of her wonderful influence over them, and promised should she bring them to the king's service, he would get for each of them a commission in the army. She told him, however, that her son had minds of their own, and thought they acted for themselves. The call was made before daylight the next morning and after they had gone Mr. and Mrs. Adair very quietly leaving the two officers in bed. They realized in a short time there would be trouble at their neighbors. They had scarcely reached the shelter of a thicket when they heard the first gun and we can imagine their suspense when the firing continued for an hour or more. At length they ventured in sight of the wood and saw red coats and Tories flying and soon afterwards the gallant McLure in pursuit. Then no longer in fear returned to their home. After the battle had been fought Mr. and Mrs. Adair were sent for by their sons and adopted son, Col.

Edward Lacy. When Mrs. Adair reached the battle ground she dismounted from her horse and presently came to a tent where several wounded men were lying. Anderson among them; she said to him, "Well captain, you ordered me last night to ring in my rebel sons and here are two of them and if the third had been within a day's ride he would have been here also." The disgruntled officer replied: "Yes, Madame, I have seen them, but it's a little too late." Mrs. Adair lived to see her son John rise to distinction both in the councils of Tennessee and Kentucky, becoming governor of Kentucky and general of the and returned home covered with the Kentucky forces in the War of 1812 and returned home covered with the laurels of victory. As a shock pretty ripe Mary Adair was gathered to her tomb in 1819.

MARY NIXON.

Mary Nixon, the daughter of William and Mary Adair, was married in 1774 to Capt. John Nixon, who had left Ireland some years before. He stood in the front ranks of the Whig party at the beginning of the Revolutionary struggle for independence. In 1780 he raised a company for defense and always acquitted himself with distinction. A party of Royalists from Newburg and Sandy River had collected a great deal of plunder from the Whigs of Chester. Nixon set on their trail and pursued them to the line of Newburg and Union districts. The Royalists took refuge in a house from which as it was strongly fortified could not be dislodged. Nixon went up above and was in the act of firing the house when he received the shot which terminated his career. His name had been a terror to the loyalists and soon after his fall they were bent on vengeance upon his family. Col. Winn of Fairfield county hearing of their designs sent a message in haste to Mrs. Nixon advising her to move with her property. She left home that very night with her negroes and as many articles as could be carried in a wagon and made her way to the Yadkin in North Carolina. The Tories arrived next day at her house took what was left destroying what they could not carry away. In the winter of 1781, she returned and in March accompanied Mrs. McCalla to Camden for the purpose of taking clothes and eatables to Mrs. McCalla's husband who had been imprisoned in Camden by orders of Lord Rawdon. Frequent trips were made while Capt. McCalla was imprisoned and both Mrs. McCalla and Mrs. Nixon were subjected to curses and insults at the hands of Lord Rawdon. Capt. Mills of Chester was informed of Lord Rawdon's insolence and disrespect shown to Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. McCalla and wrote a letter of remonstrance. On reading the letter of Capt. Mills, his color changed for Capt. McCalla had been exchanged. Turning to Mrs. Nixon he said in altered tones, "I am sorry these men have not been dismissed, as of 'right they might. I am getting them out, Madame. I am sorry they have been confined so many weeks longer than they should have been." At the same time he gave Mrs. Nixon a guinea. "This," he said, will bear your expenses."

Mary Adair and Mary Nixon were fit representatives of the patriotic families to which they belonged—Adair and Nixon.

This paper is particularly interesting as Mrs. Arthur is telling of her own kinsfolk.—Editor.
